its of the wheetive service and from 18 to 65 years, the plane of the War Department for putting this legislation into effect is a matter of the deepest erest in hundreds of thomsands of meholds, and a matter of very grave ern in many of thom.

On me face, the hill which the House has passed makes every male Ameri-man between the ages of 18 and 46 lin-ble to military service, subject to call at any hour and subject to service in the army for the period of the war, ther it hate one or ten years. Man-Mostly, however, the Government does not propose to exercise the full jower placed in its hands by Congress. To do no would create an army of 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 men, paralyze every industry in America, destroy the national efficiency behind the line which must contribute to the efficiency in the line and men the which must contribute to the efficiency in the line. nd turn the whole producing power of he country over to immature boys. Id mon and women.

To Call 2,000 000

As a matter of fact the Government proposes to raise an army of only 2.-990,000 men from those who will regis-ter under the new law. The prosent My program calls for an army of 2,000,000 men, of whom approximately 2,000,000 are now under arms. This 2,000,000 body of soldiers was created re-enterry and by calle upon regis-ns between 2) and 22. Half of that number in new oversons and the re-maining half to being moved to France th all possible speed.

The Department expects to occurs a round numbers, 1,000,000 men from the charms between 22 and 45 years of

That is, it will draw one man in roury sen above the age of $1, there ing an average of about 1,000,000 of the of the ages from 31 to 46. The malanag 1,000,000 will be drawn from which there are approximately L-L600. This means that one in every ree of the younger men will be drawn Concerning the availability of the unger men, there is light that is left doubt. But there is much still in his regarding the process which will followed in drawing the 1,000,000 ter to be considered apart, of course from that of physical fitness in selecting the one man in ten who must put on the uniform. The Secretary of War declared in this connection that crimps will will not "nutsumation! mpt say man under the new draft ery married man otherwise quali-Ded for military service must, show that his family is actually dependent upon the "continuity of his sarnings" before a local banel will recognize any claim for deferred classification. Mr. Baher has said repeatelly that in hopes to be able to raise the new army with little or no serious disturbances in this country. This is the principal reason why he had stood recollected for the drafting of the 18, 19 and 30 years old chasses. And it to the reason he has placed the other limit as high as 45 years. He did this in order to apread the liability over an wide a range as possible.

The local board for Lawrence County is in receipt of a letter from Maj. lieury F. Rhodes, Selective Service becartment of Kentucky to the effect that the Provost Marshal General will receive a call within a short time for a large number of stenographers who have had some 'egal training.

Those stenographers must be white men qualified for special and limited military service. Men emilified for general military service will not be accepted under this call.

Men who qualify under this call will probably be assigned to the Judge Advucate and Provest Marshal General's departments and will be required to reyounger clauses between 16 and 21, port court martial cases and attend to other matters pertaining to military work in the field. The work to be done by these stenographers will be interesting and will give invaluable experience to fortunate applicants.

Any registrant fully qualified for limited or special military service may volunteer at the office of the local board, Louisa, Ky., up to August 11st. chases. After a while the bombardment moved away to the east, from which direction I had come, and I knew our batteries were getting it. The Tommy and I came out of the degout. As I and the rolling wave, where no Marastarted climbing up the muddy sides saw there was a man standing at | 1-17. But this war not in store for the edge of it, and I could tell by his me-yel. putters that he was a Limey. I was having a hard job of it, so without looking up I hailed him

"What sheiling do you mean," rays the legs, without moving, "There's ne in this sector for some time, I think."

The Tommy was right at my heel by this time, and he let out a string of language. I was surprised, too, and still scrambling around in the mud.

Then the Tommy let a "Gawd 'elp us!" and I looked up and saw that the legs belonged to a Limey officer, a major, I think. And here we had been the eyes off of him!

But he sized it up rightly and gave we a hand, and only laughed when we tried to explain. I got rattled and told him that all I saw was his legs, and that they did not look like an offcer's legs, which might have made it morre, only he was good-natured about Then he said that he had been asleep in a battalion headquarters ducout, about a hundred yards away, and only waked up when part of the roof caved in on him. Yet he did not know he had been shelled!

I went on down the road a stretch, but soon found it was easier walking beside it, because the Huns had shelled it neatly right up and down the middle. Also, there were so many wrecked herses and wagons to climb over on the read-besides dead men.

After I had passed the area of the lment and got back on the ad I sat down to rest and smoke. A ole of shells had burst so near the crater that they had thrown the dirt right into the dugout, and I was a little diary from the shock. While I was sitg there a squad of Tommies came German prisoners. The Tummies had been making Fritz do the goose step and they started them at it again when ey mw me sitting there. It sure ed for a laugh any time, this games step. I guess they call it that after the fellow who invented it.

One thing I had noticed about Fritz as the way his cost flared out at the n, so I took this chance to find out it, while they halted for a et a little farther down the nd. I found that they carried their surgency kits in their costs. These untained canned ment, tobacco, or, thread and planter—all this litim to their regular pack.

Then I drilled down the read so en, but had to stop pretty soon to a column of French infantry awing on to the road from a field. When he got around the corner of the trench the boy was slipping back and the water bottle had fallen down. So I went over to him and propped him up again and gave him some more water.

The Heutenant came back with the stretcher bearers and he asked one of them, so the boy could not hear him, if a handful of cards or a roll of the the boy would five.

The stretcher bearer said: "I don't hink so. One through his chest and right leg broken."

The boy had kept quiet for a while, but all of a sudden he yelled, "Give me a cigarette?" I handed him a cigarette butt that I had found in the dugout. We were all out of cigarettes.

So they lit it for him and he kept quiet. As soon as they could they got around the corner of the fire bay with him and through a communication trench to a field hospital. The lieutenant and I walked a little way with him and he began to thank us, and he told the lieutenant, "Old man, you have been a father and a mother to the Beiging wemen the way they did. me."

And the lieutenant said to him: "You have done will, o'd boy. You have done more than your share."

The men who saw it were over the parapet before the order was given and then the whole bunch after them, because they, too, thought he was killed and figured he never would know how they came out about their vows. All the men in the company were glad when they d he was only wounded.

While half of us were on the firing step throughout the day or night the other half would be in the dupouts or sitting around in the bottom of the trench, playing little games, or mending clothes or sleeping or cooking or doing a thousand and one things. The men were always, in good humor at such times and it seemed to me even more so when the enemy fire was

If a man was slightly wounded down would come the rifles to order arms, pet and the whole bunch after them, and none pollu was sure to shout, and, believe me, I was as pale as a "Right this way. He keps detending himself with his rifle, but shore was another German on him by this time and he could not get up. The corporal of our squad came up just about that time, but he was too late, because one of the Boches got to the Swiss with his bayonet. He did not have time to withdraw it before our corporal stuck him, The other German made a pass at the corporal, but he was too late. The corporal beat him to it and felled him with a terrific blow from his rifle butt. The Huns were pretty thick around there just as another fellow and myself came up. A Boche swung his rifle at the corporal and when he dodged it the Boche almost got me. The swing took him off his feet and then the corporal did as pretty a bit of work as ever saw. He jumped for the Boche, who had fallen, landed on his face with both feet and gave it to the next one with his bayonet all at the same time. He was the quickest man I ever

CHAPTER VIL

Stopping the Huns at Dixmude.

I was standing in a communication trench that connected one of our frontline trenches with a crater caused by the explosion of a mine. All around me men of the third line were coming up, climblag around, digging, hammering, shifting planks, moving sandbags up and down, hringing up new timbers, reels of barbed wire, ladders, cases of mmunition, machine guns, trench mortars—all the things that make an army look like a general store on legs.

The noise of the guns was just deafping. Our own shells passed not far bove our heads, so close were the nemy trenches, and the explosions were so near and so violent that when you rested your rifle butt on something solid. like a rock, you could feel it shake and hum every time a shell anded

Our first line was just on the out kirts of the town, in trenches that had been won and lost by both sides many times. Our second line was in the streets and the third line was almost at the south end of the town.

The Huns were hard at it, shelling he battered remains of Dixmude, and to the right stretcher bearers were working in lines so close that they ooked like two parades passing each ther. But the bearers from the comcany near me had not returned from the emergency dressing station and the wounded were piling up, waiting for them.

A company of the 2me Legion Etrancere had just come up to take their stations in the crater, under the paraet of sandbags. A shell landed among them just before they entered the crater and sent almost a whole squad rest, besides wounding several others.

Almost before they occupied the rater the wires were laid and reached eack to us, and the order came for us orders.

Then we got the complete orders. We were to make no noise but were all to be ready in ten minutes. We put on goggles and respirators. In ten minutes the bombers were to leave the trenches. Three mines were to explode and then we were to take and hold a certain portion of the enemy trenches not far off. We were all ready to start up the ladders when they moved Nig's section over to ours and be sneaked up to me and whispered behind his hand, "Be a sport, Doc; make it fifty-fifty and gimme a

I did not have any idea what he meant and he had to get back to his squad. Then the bombers came up to the ladders, masked and with los sacks on their left arms. "One minnte now," said the officers, getting on their own ladders and drawing their revolvers-though most of the officers of the Legion charged with rifle and ayonet like their men.

Then-Boom! Slam! Banc!--and the mines went off.

"Allex!" and then the parapet was filled with bayonets and men scramling and crawling and falling and getting up again. The smoke drifted back on us, and then bur own machine guns becan ahead of us.

Up toward the front the bombers were fishing in their bags and throwing, just like boys after a rat ale the docks. The black smoke from the "Jack Johnsons" rolled over us and probably there was gas, too, but you comid not tell.

The front lines had taken their trenches and gone on and you could see them, when you stood on a purapet, running about like hounds through the enemy communication trenches bombing out dugouts, disarming pris oners—very scary-looking in their masks and goggles. The wounder were coming back slowly. Then we got busy with our work in the ducouts and communication trenches and fir bays, with bayonets and bombs, disging the Boebes out and sending them "west" And every once in a while a Fritz on one side would step out and yell "Kamerad," while, like as not, on the other side, his put would put you pick him up, thinking be was wo Then we stood aside at the entra to a dugout and some Boches came out in single file, shouting "Kamerad for all they were worth. One of them had his mask and face blown off; yet he was trying to talk, with the tears rolling down over the ram flesh. He died five minutes later.

One night, while I was lying back in the trench trying not to think of anything and go to sleep the bombs began to get pretty thick around there, and when I could not stand It any los I rushed out into the bay of the fire trench and right up against the parapet, where it was rafer.

Hundreds of star shells were b sent up by both sides and the field and, the trenches were as bright as day. All up and down the trenches our men were dodging about, keeping out of the way of the houses that were being thrown in our faces. It did not seem as if there was any place where it was possible to get cover, Most of the time I was picking dirt out of my eyes that explosions had driven into them.

If you went into a dugout the m already in there would shout, "Don't stick in a bunch—spread out?" While you were in a dugout you kept expecting to be buried alive and when you went outside you thought the Bo were alming at you direct and there was no place at all where you felt

But the fire bay looked better th the other places to me. I had not be there more than a few minutes when a big one dropped in and that buy wa just one mess. Out of the 24 men in the bay only eight escaped.

When the stretcher bearers got the they did not have much to do in the way of réscue-it was more pallbear er's work.

A stretcher bearer was picking up me of the boys, when a grenade la ed alongside of him and you could not find a fragment of either of them. That made two that landed within twelve feet of me; yet I was not even scratched.

When I got so that I could m went over to where the captain was standing, looking through a periscope over the parapet. I was very nervous and excited and was afraid to speak to him, but s ought to ask for orders. But could not say a word. Finally a shell whizzed over our heads missed us, it seemed like, and I be out: "What did you see? What's all of the news?" and so on. I guess I chattered like a monkey.

Then he yelled: "You're the gu officer. You're just in time-I've le-cated their mortar batteries."

I surely wished I was the g officer. I would have enjoyed it if I could have got back at Fritz somehow. But I was not the gunner officer and I told him so. I had to shout at him quite a while before he would believe me. Then he wanted me to find the gunner officer, but I did not know where to find him. If I could have got to our guns I guess I would have had another medal for working overtime, but I missed the chance there.

About this time another box over and clouted out the best friend I had in my company. Before the war he had been one of the finest sing ers in the Paris opera houses. Whe he was with us he used to my that the only difference between him and Carmso was $2,500 a night.

A pollu and I dragged him into dugout, but it was too late. One side of his face was blown off; the whole right side of him was stripped off and four fingers of the right hand were good.

and there was the captain discussing the matter with himself, cursing the Germans from here to Helge putting in a word for the bombs every once in a while. All up and down th treaches you could hear our men cursing the Germane in all kinds of languages. Believe me, I did my bit and I could hear somebody else using good old United States cuss w too. It certainly did not make me feel any better, but it gave me something to do. I think that was why all of

"The Government Needs Stenographers and Bookkeepers"

W. M. BYINGTON.

The above is the heading of an announcement recently sent out from Washington. It is our SPECIAL BUSINESS to train stenographers, bookkeepers and clerks for the Government, for the business man and for teaching commercial branches.

RIGHT THROUGH THE YEAR Fall Term Opens September 3

NOW IS THE TIME TO ENTER. SCHOOL CONTINUES

TUITION PAYABLE MONTHLY

If you finish in three months, you pay for only three months. Three teachers recently finished our bookkeeping course and the entire cost—board, room, tuition and all other expenses was only $142.50. We placed them in positions paying $90 a month. Before entering our school they taught for $50 a month for five months a year. Now they work twelve months a year.

We do not charge for placing our pupils in positions when they are qualified. We do not charge for our diploma upon graduation. One tuition admits you to all our courses. We do not make extra charge for extra branches.

This is the ONLY SCHOOL IN THE STATE that owns its building. That means we teach our pupils to be businesslike by example. It also means the best in the way of light, ventilation and arrangement of class rooms. In fact, we have the best in everything. Our teachers are SPECIALISTS. DORMITORY AND RESTAURANT connected with the school. Enter at once—don't delay. Delay may rob you of a fine salary.

We are ready at all times.

GERMANS MAKING GAS OUT OF OLD TIN CANS WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE Aug. 22. A French prinoner who escaped from the Germans and returned to his own lines, to-day told a story of having been forced by the Germans to work in an asphyxiating gas factory. The Frenchman said the Germans are now using old tin cans in the manufacture of one of their games.

Food Administrator Hoover, in a leter to President Wilson, explains how the situation was met. The voluntary conservation program fostered by the Food Administration enabled the piling sp of the millions of bushels of wheat furing 1917-15 and the shipment of neat during 1917-18.

The total value of all food shipments to Afflied destinations am to $1,400,000,000, all this food being cought through or in collaboration CARRIED BY RAILROADS with the Food Administration. These figures are all based on official reports and represent food exports for the harvest year that closed June 30, 1913.

The shipments, of meats and fats (including meat products, dairy prodacts. vezetable olis. etc.) to Allied destinations were as follows:

Fiscal year 1916-17....2,105,500,000 lbs. Fiscal year 1917-18...3,011,100,000 lba, Increase 844,600,000 lba.

Our slaughterable enimals at the La. gianing of the last fiscal year were not appreciably larger than the year before and particularly in Bogs; they were probably less. The increase in shipments is due to conservation and the extra weight of animals added by

The full effect of these efforts began to bear their best results in the last half of the fiscal year, when the exports to the Allies were 2.133,100,000 ends, as against 1,295,500,000 pounds in the same period of the year before, This compares with an average of 901,000,000 pounds of total exports for the same half years in the three-year pre-war period.

In cereals and cereal products reduced to terms of cereal bushels our shipments to Allied destinations have

Increase $0,200,000 bushels Of these cereals our shipments of the prime breadstuffs in the fiscal year 1917-1S to Allied destinations were: Wheat 131,000,000 bushels and of rye 13,500,000 bushels, a total of 144,500,-(4.0) bushels.

The exports to Allied destinations furing the fiscal year 1916-17 were: Wheat 135,100 000 bushels and rye 2,200,000 bushels, a total of 137,000 000 bushels. In addition some 10,000,000 lesseets of 1917 wheat are now in port thereto. The total shipments to Allied countries from our last harvest of wheat will be therefore, about 141,000,-(6) bushels, or a total of 154,960,000 bushels of prime brendstuffs. In addition to this we have shipped some 10,000,000 hushels to neutrals dependent upon us, and we have received some imports from other quarters. "This accomplishment of our people in this matter stands out even more clearly if we bear in mind that me had available in the fiscal year 1916-17 from net carry-over and as surplus over our normal consumption about Solution bushels of wheat which we were able to export that year without trenching on our bome loss," Mr. Hower said. "This last year, however, wing to the large failure of the 1917 wheat crop, we had available from net carry-over and production and imports rely just about our normal consump-Therefore our wheat shipments to Allied destinations represent appreximately savings from our own

"These figures, however, do not fully coursey the volume of the effect and sacrifice made during the past year by the whole American people. Despite the magnificant effort of our agricultural population in planting a much increased acreage in 1917, not only was but also the corn falled to mature property, and our corn is our dominant crop.

"I am sure," Mr. Hoover wrote in concluding his report, "that all the suffices of our people, agricultural as well as urban, who have contributed to these results should feel a very definite satisfaction that in a year of universal food shortages in the north-era benisphere all of those people joined together against Germany have come through into sight of the coming harvest not only with wealth and strength fully mulatained, but with only temporary periods of hardship.
